

AUTHOR VISITS WITH BLAIR NORTHEN WILLIAMSON

AUTHOR. SCUBA DIVING INSTRUCTOR. BOAT CAPTAIN.
OCEAN ACTIVIST. SPEAKER.

Inspiring Young Readers to Care for the Planet Through Story and Imagination

Two sisters who discover their beloved coral reef has become bleached and lifeless. Determined to help, they rally their community to protect the ocean they love. The Ocean Protectors: Colors of the Coral Reef introduces young readers to coral ecosystems, environmental stewardship, and the power of collective action.

AUTHOR PROGRAM:

School visits can be customized to classroom goals (ideal for ages K-3).

Author Talk & Interactive Read-Aloud

A lively reading of The Ocean Protectors with discussion about ocean life, environmental responsibility, and community action.

Ocean Conservation Talk

An engaging, kid-friendly look at coral reefs, plastic pollution, and how small actions can make a big difference.

FORMAT:

In-person or virtual

WHAT STUDENTS WILL LEARN:

- How stories and art can inspire real change
- An age-appropriate introduction to coral reefs and ocean ecosystems
- Why protecting the environment matters—and how kids can help
- The creative process behind writing a book

ABOUT BLAIR

Blair Northern Williamson is an award-winning author whose lifelong love of the ocean began during childhood trips along the North Carolina coast. A Richmond, Virginia native and University of Virginia graduate, she went on to work as a sailing captain and scuba diving instructor, where she witnessed coral bleaching and plastic pollution firsthand. Those experiences shaped her mission-driven storytelling. Today, Blair writes books that spark curiosity, celebrate the natural world, and inspire young readers to care for our oceans and the planet we share.

CONTACT:

theislandwriter.com

blair@theislandwriter.com

OTHER BOOKS BY BLAIR:

